Analysis shows there is no health spending crisis

September 28, 2006

This month, BC Finance Minister Carole Taylor released the government's first quarterly report for the current fiscal period. In releasing the information, she rang alarm bells, saying that health spending is out of control.

Is it really? Columnist Will McMartin takes a closer look at the numbers in The Tyee, an online news magazine and debunks the myth that health spending is out of control. Click here to read the article in The Tyee.
