Compass food workers locked out: Please don't use Fraser Health Authority food services

October 22, 2009

Please be advised that Compass has now locked out union members working at retail food service locations in the Fraser Health Authority.

While picket locations do not impede other union members from going to work, the B.C. Federation of Labour and the United Steelworkers Local 2009 are asking union members to not use any of these food services while management tries to operate these sites.

If you do encounter a picket line, do not cross it. Contact your steward or the HSA office at (604) 439-0994.

Your ongoing solidarity will help ensure these members receive a fair collective agreement.
